Echoes From Edgerton

Helle! Mr. Editor, here we are again.

Our echoes last week were somewhat awry, as, by an omission on the —'s part one of these items was in the comparative degree with no positive preceding it. Faulty grammar as usual, you will no doubt remark.

Well all the more need for a big consolidated school where we would be able to pursue our education and correct those faults. Wouldn't that be fine!

We wonder why two of our weekly sojourners to Wainwright sometimes come back all smiles and other times with faces like a sphinx.

Our local sport followers are eagerly scanning every paper that comes along to see if this world series jinx is still chasing the white Sox.

A very enthusiastic and well attended meeting of the Edgerton Dramatic Society was held in the Drug Store last Monday evening, all business passing through on schedule. Another meeting will be held shortly and we will have something more to say about it. Our local talent along this line is very good so let us all boost and help them along.

Messrs Byrnes, Evans, and Smithson, Edgerton's leading stockmen, returned from Chicago on Saturday's No. 1, whither they had been with 13 cars of prime beef and judging from their beaming countenances, we'll say they struck a pretty fair market.

E. E. Jackson of the firm of Jackson and Challenger left for Winnipeg with another consignment of fat beeves.

The Edgerton Band is no more, the management having sold their complete outfit to the McCafferty U.F.A.. Poor Old Edgerton Band—R.I.P.

McCafferty Local deserves very great credit for its efforts to forge ahead. This all comes from good and sound leadership.

Considerable preliminary work is being done towards instituting a Rebekah Lodge here, and in the very near future we may expect this work to lead to a successful issue.

We are not going to say what we saw Bully doing last Friday night.

OudLocal Elevator has taken in 8000 bushels of grain and the season has just started.

This week we'll not say spuds after what we read in your last issue. Amen.

Presntations To Artland Veterans Brady, October 17

On the evening of October 5th there met at the home of Mr. E. Reichelt the Artland Returned Veterans committee. The object of the meeting was to set a date for the presentation of he watches for our returned men.

The watches were placed before the committee for their inspection.

The ten watches received from James Lawson of Exeter Ont., proved very satisfactory, and the committee came to the conclusion that they were going to make a very handsome present for our veterans.

The committee decided to send tickets to all our friends that contributed to the Artland Returned Veterans Fund.

Admission will be by ticket only and on tickets will be for sale.

A committee of ladies are preparing a handsome supper for our heroes and this will take place before the general programme of the evening.

All Veterans in the Municipality are invited and will not need tickets.

Our Reeve Mr. P. Chapman has kindly consented to make the present ation.

Any of our friends that subscribed to the fund and by mistake do not receive a ticket will be admitted. Owing to the very limited space in the Brady School the committee decided that no person will be admitted without a ticket. Ladies please bring baskets.

The committee appreciate the kindness of Mr. Reichelt in providing a comfortable meeting place and a nice lunch.

Now that all the surviving members of the Brady Contingent have returned the reception and presentation will be held on the 17th inst at Brady School, according to the an-

If through oversight, any of the subscribers to the Fund may have been overlooked in the matter of invitation cards, it is hoped by the committee that this notice may be viewed in the same light as a regular invitation.

The committee will be glad to welcome any of the returned men in the Municipality, on the 17th inst.

It is also requested by the committee that all the returned men should be uniform, full dress and medals.

Campaign Against Grasshopper Pest In Saskatchewan

Deep Fall Ploughing Of Stubble Land Is Only Measure Which Can Avert More Serious Outbreak Over Wider Area Next Year

The first serious outbreak of grasshoppers or locusts in Saskatchewan occurred this year. F. H. Auld, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Saskatchewan, is anxious that the farmers whose crops were infested this year, as well as farmers in adjoining districts, and in any part of the province where grasshoppers have been noticed in unusual numbers, should realize the importance of ploughing deeply their stubble land, if a much more serious outbreak of grasshoppers over a much wider area of the province, is to be averted next year.

"There are billions of eggs deposited by the female grasshoppers in stubble fields many miles away from where these grasshoppers were destroying the crop this year," said Mr. Auld, "and unless next spring is usually unfavorable to the development of young grasshoppers, there is nothing to prevent these eggs from hatching out a destructive plague of grasshoppers next year, except deep ploughing of all stubble land this fall. All stubble land should be carefully ploughed at least six inches deep."

Importance Of Fall Ploughing

The ploughing of the stubble land should be so deep as to prevent very few if the young grasshoppers ever This will remove a very serious menace to next year's crop. Deep ploughing the stubble land will not prevent the grasshoppers doing considerable damage to the crop, if the season is favorable, unless a vigilant watch is kept, and unless grasshoppers hatching along the roads and in the grass fields in any numbers are poisoned

Letters To The Editor

Sir:
I beg to advise you that there appears to be an impression amongst some sportsmen that there is no limit on grouse, commonly called prairie chicken and partridge.

You are at liberty to advise your readers that Section 5 of the Game Act provides for a bag limit of ten grouse per day, 100 for the season. If they kill two partridge (ruffed grouse) they will be only allowed to kill eight prairie chicken the same day. The sale, purchase or the serving of such birds at meals for which a charge is made is also prohibited.

Thanking you for your co-operation in the interests of game protection.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
BENJ. LAWTON

Folkins Elected Trustee

Dr. Folkins was elected by acclamation as trustee for Chauvin School, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of A. Auclair. Only about half a dozen ratepayers turned up at the meeting.

Short Hog Production Is Dangerous Policy

H. S. Arkell, Live Stock Commissioner, who has recently returned from a trip to Europe where he has reviewed the live stock market situation, has expressed his views, regarding Canada's position, in the October number of the Agricultural Gazette. He states that the London agents of our Canadian packers reviewed in disapproval the orders for Canadian goods, bacon, eggs, etc., for which they could obtain but a tenth of the product they required. The unwarranted high price of hogs in Canada during the past month is but a reflection on the reputation of Canadian bacon, as compared with American, and demonstrates the effort of our packers to maintain their connection with old established clients in the face of short supplies. Since Denmark, within a year, will again be a factor in the bacon market our only security for the future is full production and such a substantial export supply as must command recognition by its volume and quality.

Short hog production is unquestionably the most dangerous policy Canada can adopt. This is true of eggs as well as bacon.

before they can injure the crop, but there is no measure which will destroy so many grasshoppers as deep fall ploughing of the stubble land.

Rev. Mr. Brown At Killarney

On Sunday last a representative congregation gathered at the Killarney School House to hear the Rev. Mr. Brown of Red Deer, speak on the subject of the Forward Movement of the churches.

The Rev. gentleman spoke at length and with great earnestness and eloquence of this movement, and the vital necessity of it, if Canada was to be one of the virile nations of the world.

He said there was need for a forward movement in three directions, viz. in the church itself. 2nd There was need for a forward movement in the home, and 3rd There was need for a forward movement in the church's conception of her duty towards the rest of the world.

As regards the first need, he reminded his hearers that in the Protestant churches there being no hierarchy, (or directing body of ministers or priests as the case might be) the people themselves were the Church, and were therefore responsible for the success or lack of success of any church movement. This was a great privilege, and privilege, and it was (Continued on inner page)

Gheat Event Coming

A splendid program is promised for the opening of the I.O.O.F new hall on the 15th inst. The entertainment committee are working hard to make it one of the best local talent entertainments we have had. Among the features are two dramatic performances which promise good amusement. A great treat to all lovers of music will be the renderings of the Chauvin Orchestra, who are putting a great amount of work and spending a large amount of time practising for the event. We are sure their efforts will be appreciated by all who attend the opening concert.

A dance will follow and good music and a good floor will help to make for a most successful evening's enjoyment.

Fire Prevention Day October 9

By Royal Proclamation, His Excellency the Governor General of Canada has been graciously pleased to appoint Thursday, October 9th, 1919, as Fire Protection Day. The object of this day thus set apart for observance, is to reduce the tremendous fire that which is directly due to carelessness and avoidable causes.

In 1918, Canada's fire loss amounted to $33,800,000. This was $92,600 a day, $7,717 per hour, or $192 per minute.

If we add to the value of property destroyed, the cost of maintaining fire departments and expenses of fire insurance companies in Canada, the total economic waste by fire exceeds $250 per minute.

In European countries the average annual loss by fire is about 33 cents per head of the population. In 1918, Canada's fire loss was over $4 per head of the population. Together with the expenditure on protection fires cost every family of five persons more than $40 in 1918.

Canada is made this much poorer by fire. Burned buildings and goods are not to replace themselves. Fire losses are not paid by the insurance companies. The companies merely collect premiums from everybody in Canada and pay a portion of the amount collected to the person who suffers by fire.

Fire taxes every one and none can which represents the cost of fire waste, is added by manufacturers and merchants to the price of their goods. Fire increases the cost of everything, food, clothes, furniture, rents and all the necessities of life.

Saddest of all, fires in Canada destroy many lives. In 1916 there were 563 persons burned to death, 235 in 1917 and 261 in 1918.

SALE NOTICE

Fined For Keeping Children From School

A case of considerable interest and importance was tried in Chauvin during the past week. Upon information, given by the Inspector of Schools, Mr. Fowler, Messrs Hakon Johnson and O. Solberg, were after hearing each fined $1.00 and costs, about $21.00 for each to pay, for keeping their children from school. This being the first case of this nature, the magistrate, A. E. Keith imposed the lightest possible fine. If any other cases arise the offenders will receive harsher penalties.

The Fury Of The Pen

BY ROBERT JUKES
No sooner has the world emerged from the most ghastly war ever known, than we find mankind involved in another deadly conflict.

The war now raging is waged with one of the fiercest weapons, an in- of its look by the range of its subtle and lasting influence—the pen.

In every country today, oceans of ink and acres of paper are being used in spreading accusations and incriminations, attack and defence, over the incidents of the late conflict.

Valient generals retire to safe and secluded spots, flooding the world with their views on the campaign; defending themselves against enemies and critics, while refighting their battles for the edification of perplexed public.

Distinguished admirals following the same example, publish their views in violent support of their own theories of naval warfare.

Statesmen no less energetic implore the multitude to gaze upon the follies and blunders of their opponents, and to remember that in overturning them, they alone were the saviours of the nation.

Diplomatists join the crowd, splashing ink right and left, in the effort to prove that the old secret diplomacy, in the style of the congress of Vienna was far superior to the modern tendency of shouting truth from the house top, and that if this diplomacy had been followed, war would have been prevented.

The lamb in fact, according to them, would have lain down with the lion!

And so they all flounder round in a dismal chain of intrigue and suspicion, and the rest of the entire fabric of society has become tainted blacks to Kings and Presidents.

The grim irony of this complex situation will be found in the undisputed fact, that in every capital if Europe, today, the chiefs of the general staffs are busy detailing the precise plans and the exact strategy for the war of tomorrow, based on the experience gained from the massacres of yesterday.

The spectacle is depressing, and in addition, the childhard suspicion faces every one of us, nations no less than individuals, that we are merely "bracing up" through a truce, for the still more terrific struggle of the future.

And in the midst of it all, we see poor Andrew Carnegie pass away leaving his supurb Palace of Peace at the Hague, a mere labyrinth of cobwebs, the tomb of a ruined hope.

The League of Nations, it may be asked, is there ni gleam of sunshine to be gathered from that collection of amiable enthusiasts?—The reply of a cynical world is, that the League represents merely "A scrap of paper" and that the ennergies of its gentle authors may be linked with the dreams of the Millenium.

If we accept this view of the cynic, and reject the possibility if success for the League, in other words, that horrible than the last, because of progress in the art of destruction, then we may as well resign ourselves to fate. Why worry?

When the nations are ready, and meet again in conflict, perhaps the only remaining consolation will lie in the reflection that probably it is the last war, the expring struggle of a weary world, in which destruction having become universal, there remains only the promise of peace, in universal death!

Look out for the Grand Opening of the new Oddfellow Hall, at Chauvin, Wednesday, October 15th.

for the people to see to it that they did not regard it lightly to their own condemnation.

Regarding the home movement, the speaker spoke of the good old days of family worship, and Sunday observance, which were all too often looked on as old fashioned and straitlaced notions, and unsuited to these rushing times, but the observance of which had put the followers thereof, in the forefront of the world's best men and created great nations, for the simple reason that whoso honoreth the Lord, shall himself obtain favor of the Lord. Proceeding further he said that regarding this same thing he had a serious charge to lay against many Western parents. They had been brought up in godly homes, either in the Old Land or in the East, where the Sabbath was kept as God had commended it should be, and where church attendance was not a prefatory affair, only to be considered if you had nowhere else to go that day,—and yet despite this knowledge these parents were allowing their boys and girls to grow up like the weeds on the prairie,—just anyhow—and later these boys and girls would have to face the evils and trials of city life, or of any kind of life, without the moral and religious training which was their due, to act as a guide and council when hard pressed by the temptations and sorrows of life. He pleaded that we give our lads and lasses a square deal in this matter.

Regarding the forward movement necessary in necessary in our conception of duty to each other and the world he took a map of the world and showed by it that by far the greater part of the world had no knowledge of God, or his son Jesus Christ. He said the day for men sneering at foreign missions was past, since in the titanic struggle against the lust of Prussian world conquest, the sons of Africa, of China, of India, and of Japan left their homes to stand shoulder to shoulder with the men of Anglo Saxon and Latin race on the fields of France and Flanders. "They were good enough to die for us, surely the least that we could do was to give them knowledge of the best thing we we had, viz. a knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus. "But, continued the speaker "Before we can do that we must have men, and more men for the ministry. The men of the Orient are showing a phenomenal interest in the religion of Jesus Christ. The harvest is ripe but the laborers are few." He struck a grave note of warning when he reminded us that "the unchristianized nations by reasons of their vast preponderance of population were a menace to the world, and for our own safety if for no other reason, it was our duty to present Christ's ideals before them, in the interests of world peace.

He warned us not to delude ourselves with the idea that the great Anglo-Saxon nations could not be brought down to defeat, by Oriental or other power. In the same manner did Rome, and Greece boast in their day, but by losing grip of the vital issues of life, by allowing moral degeneracy to weaken the sinews of the nation, they fell easy prey to the attack of a more virile foe. In all our reconstruction problems, whether of tariff, or political economy there lay at the root of a great moral issue—the to our attitude as a people towards this moral issue so would the future of Canada be for weal or woe. In concluding he touched on the financial side of the forward movement question. For this he said he made no apology, it being obvious that neither a church scheme, nor a preacher, could live on air any more than secular schemes and professions.

The Protestant church was in need of an extra four million dollars, if she was to take the part in the reconstruction of things that she ought to take, and for this she needed more men and more money wherewith to enable these men not to have to subsist on the generosity, or stray kindnesses or just as often, cold charity, while working for the highest cause of all. No man can soar high in holiness who is all the time tied to earth by sordid cares.

He closed with an appeal that we pledge ourselves to help this great-grand work along with the best help we could give financially, as well as by prayer and an awakened interest.

His hearers expressed themselves as much impressed with his address. The fact that he hit straight from the shoulder, and in so doing 'get' some of us, only made him more appreciated by folks who don't believe in beating about the bush when there is a real message to deliver.

The Why? of Another Victory Loan

WHEN, on the morning of November 11th, 1918, the guns were hushed and glad tidings flashed across the world, there followed with the Nation's Prayer of Thanksgiving, one yearning query, which found echo in the faster beating hearts of wives, mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts. That query was, "How soon will our boy be home?" And, from France and Flanders, from Italy and Egypt, from Palestine and from far-off Siberia, there came an answering echo, "How soon, how soon, may we go home?"

CANADA caught the spirit of these longings, and at once resolved to satisfy them. It was an appalling task. Shipping was tragically scarce. The composition of the Army of Occupation had not then been settled. And other parts of the Empire as well as Canada were looking for the speedy return of their men.

THE problem was this. The half-million men that Canada had overseas had taken more than four years to transport to the field of battle. To bring them home in a few months was a gigantic undertaking—one to tax all Canada's ingenuity and resources. Canada solved the problem, but it meant crowding into a few short months, an expense for demobilization which it was impossible to foresee.

THEN, too, besides the sentimental aspect of the necessity for bringing the men home quickly the economic side could not be overlooked. That was, to transform efficiently and speedily the nation's army of fighters into a national army of workers.

Need Divides Itself in Two Parts

(a) To finish paying the expenses of demobilization, and the obligations we still owe to our soldiers.

(b) To provide national working capital.

Obligations to Soldiers

The obligations to soldiers include: That already incurred cost of bringing home troops from overseas. The payment of all soldiers still undemobilized. This includes more than 20,000 sick and wounded who are still in hospital, and who of course remain on the Army payroll till discharged. The upkeep of hospitals, and their medical and nursing staffs, until the need for them is ended. These three items alone will use up at least $200,000,000 of the Victory Loan 1919.

Gratuities

There is also the gratuity which has been authorized, and has been and is being paid to assist soldiers to tide over the period between discharge and their re-adjustment to civil life. For this purpose alone, $61,000,000 must be provided out of the Victory Loan 1919, in addition to the $59,000,000 already paid out of the proceeds of the Victory Loan 1918.

Land Settlement

Furthermore, soldiers who desire to become farmers may, under the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act, be loaned money by Canada with which to purchase land, stock and implements. The money so advanced will be paid back; meantime each loan is secured by a first mortgage. Up to August 15th, 29,495 soldiers had applied for land under the terms of this Act; and 22,281 applications had been investigated, and the qualifications of the applicant approved. For this purpose Canada this year requires $24,000,000.

Vocational Training

For this work which, with the Vocational Training and Soldiers' Service Departments, embraces the major activities of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, an appropriation of $57,000,000 is necessary.

These national expenditures are war expenses. They will be accepted readily by every citizen who gives thought to the task which Canada faced following the Armistice, and to the success with which she has met it.

National Working Capital

Canada needs national working capital, so that she may be able to sell on credit to Great Britain and our Allies the products of our farms, forests, fisheries, mines and factories.

You may ask "Why sell to them if they can't pay cash?" The answer is, "Their orders are absolutely essential to the continuance of our agricultural and industrial prosperity."

The magnitude of these orders and the amount of employment thus created, will depend upon the success of the Victory Loan 1919.

The "Why" of Credit Loans

Farmers and manufacturers (and that includes the workers on these orders) must be paid cash for their products. Therefore, Canada must borrow money from her citizens to give credit, temporarily, to Great Britain and our Allies. Actually, no money will pass out of Canada. If Canada does not give credit, other countries will; and they will get the trade, and have the employment that should be ours, to distribute amongst their workers. And remember, we absolutely need these orders to maintain employment. If we don't finance them business will feel the depression, employment will not be as plentiful, and conditions everywhere will be adversely affected.

For Transportation

Money must also be available to carry on the nation's shipbuilding programme, and other transportation development work.

For loans to Provincial Housing Commissions who are building moderate priced houses.

These, then, are some of the things for which Canada needs national working capital. She is in the position of a great trading company, and her citizens who buy Victory Bonds are the shareholders.

Those who give thought to our outstanding obligations to soldiers, and to our need for national working capital, cannot fail to be impressed with the absolute necessity for the

LADIES COLUMN

Do not forget the Ribstone Fair, on Saturday, November 1st.

Useful Hints

PICKLED CARROTS
Young and tender carrots make the best pickles. If large carrots are used cut them in slices.
Carrots
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 small onion
Some bay leaves
Scrape and wash the carrots and put them into a kettle of boiling water. Cook until tender. Drain and pack in jars, adding the celery seed and bay leaves. Boil some vinegar and pour over the whole. If you have no celery or bay leaves, use ground spice tied in a small bag, or whole pickle spice. If you prefer your pickles slightly sweet, add some brown sugar to the vinegar.

FRENCH TOAST

This is a good way to use up stale bread.
1-4 level teaspoon salt
1 egg
1-2 teaspoon sugar
1-2 cup milk
4 slices stale bread
Beat the egg slightly; add salt, sugar and milk. Dip bread in mixture until both sides are saturated. Cook on a griddle. Brown on both sides. Serve with maple syrup.

SWEET PICKLED CRAB APPLES

8 lbs crab apples
1 quart vinegar
4 lbs sugar
1 tablespoon cinnamon
Whole cloves
Wash the apples and stick a few whole cloves in each. Make a syrup of the sugar and vinegar. Tie the cinnamon in cheese cloth and add to the syrup. Add the apples and simmer until the apples are tender but not broken. Take the apples out and put them in jars. Boil the syrup a little longer and pour over the apples. This recipe will serve for pears and plums as well.

BEEF IN CASSEROLE

This is a tasty way to use up tough ends of beef or lamb. Fowl is also excellent cooked in a casserole.
1 1/2 lbs of beef or other meat
1 cup diced turnips
1 cup diced carrots
1 1/2 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons dripping
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups stock or water
1-2 teaspoon pepper
Parsley
Boiled potatoes
Melt the dripping in a stew-pan and brown the meat in it, after the meat has been cut in small pieces. Put a layer of vegetables in a casserole, lay the browned meat on top, then add the remainder of the vegetables. Season the stock with salt, pepper and meat and vegetables, and bake in a slow oven three hours. Heap the boiled potatoes on top and garnish with parsley. If you have no proper casserole use a five-pound butter crock.

POINTS IN PICKLING

There are a few important points to remember in making pickles. Use good vinegar and spices. When the spices and sugar are added to the vinegar, do not boil too long or the vinegar will lose much of its flavor. Never use a metal vessel in making pickles. Pickles kept in them for any length of time will become poisonous.

Pure, Economical, Wholesome Diet

The public must necessarily judge food very largely by the eye. Green colored apples are difficult to sell, even when of fine quality, but a red apple will usually bring a good price, even though the actual flavor may be but little better than a turnip.
Rice, in order to make it attractive, has to be coated with glucose and powdered talc, by which it gets its fine gloss.
Butter must be yellow to please the purchaser and is therefore frequently colored with a yellow dye.
On the other hand the public demands wheat flour in as white a form as possible and hence it has often been bleached to remove its natural yellow tint.
In bulletin No. 47 "The Use of Coarse Grains for Human Food" which may be had free on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, it is shown that with the advance of civilization and the improvement of machinery there has been a tendency to discard the coarse and relatively indigestible substances in our food, with the result that we have reached a stage where most people consume too large a proportion of refined material and too little of the necessary coarse and relatively indigestible substances.
Lately, however, people have become alarmed and action has begun against what may fairly be called 'over purification of foods'.
The object of the new bulletin is two-fold; first to show to the farmers generally how they can become more nearly self-sufficient as far as the food supply for themselves and their family is concerned, and second to point out for the benefit of other classes of people some ways of economizing in the cost of their food, and at the same time improving the wholesomeness of their diet.

NEVER SAY DIE

Just stifled dejection, and smother that sigh,
Keep a smile on your face, if a tear's in your eye:
Look happy, however unhappy you are
For that worried frown will not carry you far.
You're down, and you're out, and you think you don't care.
Are you any better for nursing despair?
For now, at the time you are most badly hit,
Is the chance that awaits you for proving your grit?
So, look up, my lad, twill come right by and by.
Believe in yourself, never, never say die!
When all is against you, hang on with a grin,
Unless you surrender, believe me, you'll win!
Tis only the weaklings that hopeless go down—
A man that's a man will not let himself drown!
Your future depends on the courage

you show—
It's only a coward lies down to a blow!
Never mind if you are in a corner that's tight—
Keep your head, square your shoulders, and go in and fight!
Remain cool and cheerful and have a good try.
Believe in yourself, lad, and never say die.

In a quiet country town a visitor wandered around in search of a barber as he wanted to have his hair cut. He went into a shop, and, after shaking the barber vigorously, managed to awaken him. "How long will it take you to cut my hair?" he asked. "Not long, sir," was the reply, and the barber getting up yawned and stretched himself, and slumped up to his wife. "Here! Send the boy down to the newspaper office and tell the editor I want my scissors just as soon as he's done editing the paper. There's a gent here waiting for a hair-cut!"

Young lady to the librarian: "I do not wish to bother you, but I've forgotten the name of the book I want, if you just mention the names of the books you have I'll stop you when you come to it."

Before he was 14 was a cook's boy in a Canadian lumber camp. At 21 he was a lumber foreman and saved money on wages of $10 a month. From his first investment in a boat in which to transport lumber cheaply his shipping venture grew to a fleet. Today—a lumberman, shipowner and merchant because early he began to save his money. Once get the saving habit and unless you are an exception to the rule you will find that saving money is as easy as spending money. We welcome the opportunity of serving you.

THE MAN AND HIS NEGRO SERVANT

One day a man engaged a negro servant. It was the first time that he had ever seen one, and he thought that the black color of his skin was due to his failure to keep himself clean.

"Put him into a tub," he said to his other servants. "and scrub him well untill he is clean and white again."

His servants set to work. They scrubbed and scrubbed and washed and scoured, but to no purpose. At last the negro caught cold and died.

"SHE withstood everything in the field and above all was, and still is, the last and only car to survive until the cessation of hostilities"—Extract from letter received by Ford Motor Company from a British Soldier, in Africa.

Over shell-torn roads, through water soaked fields, second only to the tanks in its power to climb debris and crater holes, the Ford car made a world famous record in the fighting area of the great war. In press despatches, in field reports, in letters, in rhyme and song the praises of the Ford were sounded.

In France - 700 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Italy - 850 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Egypt - 996 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Mesopotamia 999 cars out of 1,000 were Fords

The Ford power plant that established this world-wide record in every theatre of the war remains the same. It will be in the Ford you buy.

worse, after more than three years war service.

These receptions of individual returning members of the Brady Contingent, may appear somewhat cold and undemonstrative, but circumstances do not allow otherwise.

Our returning friends however, will, we feel sure, quite understand that though their arrival may be unmarked, the pleasure of seeing them home once more, is in no way less sincere.

We understand that Donald Macintosh is on the trail for Artland, but the exact date of his arrival is, as yet unknown.

With the return of the above men, the home coming of the surviving members of the Brady contingent, will be complete.

The meetings of the local branch of the Grain Growers' Association announced some time back, and then postponed, has now been fixed for Friday the 31st of October, at Brady School.

Mr. Howell of the Association will, as originally arranged, address the meeting.

The G.G.A. local met at Brady School on the 27th of September.

The business that engaged attention was the important one of coal for the approaching winter.

The Secretary informs us that the coal has been duly ordered.

Quite a flutter amid the members of that popular family, the geese from the North on their way home, occurred over the fields of Gar Lawson's place last week.

Our genial Councillor, accompanied by William Wright, made the feathers fly.

Returning to breakfast with first class appetites, these merry sportsmen rolled out a bag of no less than thirteen.

The number may be unlucky according to old yarns, but that did not, apparently affect the rich flavor of the birds, nor wary the feasters who polished them off.

Two days later these jovial guys went out again, and lo and behold returned with a couple of brace of good fat birds and true.

These stout travellers who, so obligingly fly over us between their Florida and Arctic homes, are sure good birds all round, and beat the old farm yard strutter all to fits when it comes down to real flavor.

R. Wryte, who made many friends during his short stay here as acting station agent, has lately been on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. Wright.

At this season of the fall, unhappy editors do not as a rule, find themselves overpowered by the amount of news they receive from rural points.

When the hamlet, however, can report that an old coal car, tired of the monotony of life on the rail, skips off into the wild, and, that the ancients among the telegraph poles are retiring on pensions, it will at once be realized that here at least things are humming.

But, alas as our esteemed contemporary the "Saskatoon Star" would say, "that's all."

The "El Dorado" Is Near At Home

If one were to lightly judge the various advertisements he would not find it hard to believe that everywhere advertised there was to be freely obtained all the profits and pleasures of an agricultural life without any of its accompanying dis-advantages. It is but human to look for an 'El Dorado' —and the alluring vision seems to be more bright at the times when our own hopes have failed to materialize to the full measure of our more optimistic moments.. With this short prelude, we venture to describe the progress of another of our farmers in our own district. It may appear to our readers that we are not taking these stories in the right order: we admit it.
But, we ask. 'Is it not better to give you these stories as we find opportunity, than to leave them untold because we are lacking the means and time to gather them after the manner of an historian. The great object of these stories is to promote a feeling of confidence in our district and to gain a better conception of one anothers enterprize and success.

A Visit To The J. A. Varty Farm

James A. Varty came to this district during the year 1908. The first season he broke thirty acres, which considering the conditions then prevailing was not a small undertaking. The perfect weather of that fall impressed him with the idea he had, at last, reached 'El Dorado'. Such perfect conditions however do not always maintain and Varty was not long in finding out that crops here, as elsewhere, pass through many vicissitudes before producing their reward in shekels. But through it all, frost, drought and good years Varty has been forging ahead. Varty is an optimistic worker of keen agricultural abilities and a born trader; and is ably supported by his wife a real hard worker and clear thinker.

Adding Acreage

Two seasons after their arrival, in 1910, Varty began to purchase more land and to-day he owner of two sections, of which 600 acres are in crop.

Cattle Multiply Hundred Times

In the cattle line he started in 1908 with two head, the present herd is more than an hundred times greater, he has two hundred and twelve.

Cattle Pay Running Expenses

The natural increase of this herd during the current year will, in Mr.
Varty's estimation pay for the expense of operating the six-hundred acres of crop. This means that every bushel of grain marketed will represent profit.

In addition to this profit, Mrs Varty is paying the household expenses by her sale of dairy and poultry produce.

Favors Shorthorns

Shorthorns are favored by Varty, being the biggest animals good milk-ers and a generally good dual purpose animal which thrive well on local pastures and our climatic conditions.

Sheep Bring Big Money

Sheep have been found profitable on this farm, though at the present moment owing to labor conditions there are none, some four or five years back, Varty bought 100 ewes and 200 lambs and keeping them for two and half years before he sold the last he found that his total income from the sheep amounted to $8250 for the animals and $21,000 for their wool. This after paying a mans wages for the period and for a load of hay per day during the winter months still left an handsome profit.

Sheep, he says, incur much labor, as profit-makers they cannot be beaten provided a suitable run is available for them.

The Varty farm gives employment to three men and sixteen horses are usually fully occupied. A full line of machinery, including atractor and a separator may be found there.

Some Worth While Buildings

The building program of the farm is not yet completed, this fall an implement shed will be erected. Recently a commodious barn for the horses, with hayloft above and all was completed, being worth well over $2000. There is a cow stable measuring 22x64 feet and hay loft above.

At an early date we may expect to see the erection of a permanent house started on the farm in place of the present stucture which has so well served its purpose.

A visit to the Varty farm will amply repay the time spent, and especially to those who are feeling awakening in their enthusiasm for their own district and its splendid capacities as a mixed farming district.
